

NuVo Music Port Gets Android App

Written by Marco Attard
12. July 2013

The NuVo Music Port and Music Port Elite source components receive a further control option-- a free Android remote control app is now available from the Google Play store.

Both Music Port and Music Port Elite work with the NuVo Concerto, Essentia and Renovia whole home audio systems, and can act as standalone sources. The systems offer 4 simultaneous audio streams from internally- or network-stored content and a number of internet radio subscription services.

Currently in beta, the app is compatible with any NuVo system including the Music Port or Music Port Elite components. It allows for simple source navigation and zone control, as well as queue filling, volume adjustment and source switching, via Android devices.

Go NuVo