Will Android device numbers catch up with Apple's? Business Insider suggests they could, following Google's Q2 2011 earnings call.

Current Android devices total at around 130m-- with activations reaching 550000 daily, up from May's 400000.

This is above daily Apple iOS device activations, currently numbering 325000 iPhones and iPads daily.

In conclusion? Simply put, Android is "completely poised to catch up" to iOS, should Google maintain such growth, according to Business Insider.
