Customers get another option catering for their protective iPhone case needs with the Fre Power, a ruggedised case featuring a 2600mAh battery within a water, dirt, snow and shock proof design.

According to makers LifeProof the case can double the battery life of the iPhone, with charging activated via button press. LEDs on the back show how much charge the battery carries, while a micro USB port handles charging and iPhone synching duties.

The case also features built-in port covers, screen protector, anti-reflective glass over the camera lens, waterproofing (up to 2m), fall protection (up to 2m) and resistance to dust, dirt and snow.

The Fre Power ships from June 2015 in black, blue and white/gray.
