

One Keyboard for All iDevices

Written by Marco Attard
20. September 2013

Kanex proposes a means of typing on all Apple devices, be it iPads, iPhones or Macs-- the Multi-Sync, a full-size keyboard customers can share with one USB and up to 3 Bluetooth devices.

Looking fairly similar to an Apple wireless keyboard, the Multi-Sync features keys (specifically F1-4) allowing one to easily switch between connected devices. It also replaces the Fn button with an iDevice Home button, and shifts the search key to below the right-hand shift.

Wired connectivity comes through microUSB, while power comes through either bus or a pair of AAA batteries.

The package also includes a stand able to hold devices at 75-, 69- or 63-degree angles.

Go Kanex Multi-Sync Keyboard